Empowering Women Through Fashion

Who are we?

Della is a company with a conscience. Committed to serving communities in Ghana, West Africa, we strive to empower women to rise above poverty. Every purchase of a Della product helps provide fair wages, skills training, weekly literacy classes, money management workshops, social security and healthcare benefits. We are not a charity, we are a business done right.

A closer look:

We currently have 30 women working full time at our facility in the Volta Region of Ghana. The team produces an average of 400 pieces per week. Development is currently under way to expand production capacity and nearly triple our number of full time employees within the next year.

These women are mothers, sisters, daughters & friends. They range from ages 19 - 43. Over half of them have never traveled outside of the region and even less have received an education higher than the 8th grade. Some of the benefits offered to our employees are:

- Social Security benefits
- National Healthcare benefits
- Weekly literacy classes
- Bi-monthly money savings mentorship
- Team leadership & management skills
- Free skills training mentorship
- Paid Vacation and maternity leave on par with U.S. standards
